Course GISC 6379 - Special Topics: Urban Economics

UTD

Professor Dr. Daniel A. Griffith, Ashbel Smith Professor of Geospatial Information Sciences

Term Spring 2014 (January 13 - May 12)

Meetings Thursday 4-6:45pm; GR 3.402B

Office Phone 972-883-4950
Office Location GR 2.812A

Email Address dagriffith@utdallas.edu

Office Hours TBA

Other Information I do not read WebCT mail; all course materials are available from the eppsgreen server.

General Course Information

Pre-requisites, Corequisites, & other Introductory economics or introductory economic geography.

restrictions

This is an elective course for advanced undergraduate Economics students and graduate GISC students. The emphasis of the course is on urban environment from various analytical viewpoints. Topics to be covered in the course include spatial economic forces producing and sustaining cities, urban industrial location, systems

Course Description of cities, monocentric and polycentric cities, land rent and land use patterns, urban population density and residential neighborhoods, urban transport (journey to work, to shop, and to recreate), environmental problems, crime in cities, and urban public health. Each student will adopt a city for which s/he can obtain recent data, and develop a vignette about it that covers the topics of the course.

Learning to acquire the essentials of urban economics from a spatial econometrics and geos-Outcomes patial information sciences perspective.

Required Texts & Greene, R., and J. Pick. 2012. Exploring the Urban Community: A GIS Approach, 2nd ed. Upper Saddle River, NJ: Pearson Prentice-Hall.

Suggested Texts,

Readings, & O'Sullivan, A. 2012. Urban Economics, 8th ed. NY: McGraw-Hill/Irwin. Materials

Assignments & Academic Calendar

Week 1 Defining cities, the conceptualization of urban environments and the axioms of urban economics; selection of urban place & e-mail connection.

Week 2 Market forces, especially industrial location, operating in the formation and sustaining of cities.

Week 3 Systems of cities and city size distribution

Week 4 Monocentric and polycentric cities: residential, employment, and retail centers; vignette essay.

Week 5 The internal structure of cities: an overview

Week 6 Land rent and land use patterns.

Week 7 Urban neighborhoods: socio-economic class, race, ethnicity, and gender; vig-nette essay.

Week 8 Urban transport, migration, and residential mobility

Week 9 SPRING BREAK (NO CLASS)

Week 10 Journey to work, to shop, and to recreate.

Week 11 Urban environmental problems.

Week 12 Urban public health

Week 13 Term exam

Week 14 Crime and education in cities

Exam dates examination.

Week 15+ Presentation of individual urban vignettes.

Term examination: April 10; written vignette due at time of the scheduled final

Course Policies (also consult http://go.utdallas.adu/syllabus.policies.)

Urban place selection & e-mail connection: P/F essays; 2 @ 10% term tests: 1 @ 40% with a GIS supplement vignette oral and written: 2 @ 20%. Criteria	Course Polici	es (also co	onsult http://go.utda	llas.edı	ı/syllabus-po	licies)
Criteria Credity
Vignette oral and written: 2 @ 20%		*
Vignette oral and written: 2 @ 20%	Grading	term test	· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·
Course grading
Course grading						B+	87-89	C+	75-79
An exam cannot be made up without a legitimate excuse accompanied by proper formal documentation (e.g., a doctor's excuse). Extra credit is not available because it tends to interfere with a student's focusing upon completing assignments for the course, and permits students to choose not to or to poorly complete selected assignments designed as part of the course. Work will not be accepted late without a legitimate excuse accompanied by proper formal documentation (e.g., a doctor's excuse). Each student is expected to attend every lecture, and will be excused from doing so only for legitimate reasons that are accompanied by the provision of proper formal documentation (e.g., a doctor's excuse). Each student has the responsibility to access all information presented during a missed class session from other sources; the faculty instructor is not responsible for ensuring that students have missed materials. Furthermore, each student is expected to actively participate, which means to do more than just show up and occupy a seat in the classroom. Rather, students are expected to arrive to class ON TIME and to be properly and fully prepared to participate in class discussions and/or exercises. Students arriving to a class session after it has begun are expected to enter quietly and take a seat in the least disruptive manner. Student leaving a class session early are expected to do so in the least disruptive manner. Student leaving a class session early are expected to do so in the least disruptive manner. Students are expected to display a positive attitude toward learning by conducting themselves with civility, respect for others (e.g., sharing thoughts and actively listening to the thoughts and comments of peers and the instructor), and general good, courteous behavior, including not engaging in cell phone (which should be silenced), personal movies/IV and personal newspaper (or other reading materials) usage, and not participating in social discussion groups during class time. The UT System and The University			course grading
An exam cannot be made up without a legitimate excuse accompanied by proper formal documentation (e.g., a doctor's excuse). Extra Credit Formal documentation (e.g., a doctor's excuse). Extra Credit is not available because it tends to interfere with a student's focusing upon completing assignments for the course, and permits students to choose not to or to poorly complete selected assignments designed as part of the course. Work will not be accepted late without a legitimate excuse accompanied by proper formal documentation (e.g., a doctor's excuse). Each student is expected to attend every lecture, and will be excused from doing so only for legitimate reasons that are accompanied by the provision of proper formal documentation (e.g., a doctor's excuse). Each student has the responsibility to access all information presented during a missed class session from other sources; the faculty instructor is not responsible for ensuring that students have missed materials. Furthermore, each student is expected to actively participate, which means to do more than just show up and occupy a seat in the classroom. Rather, students are expected to a drive to class discussions and/or exercises. Students arriving to a class session after it has begun are expected to enter quietly and take a seat in the least disruptive manner. Student leaving a class session early are expected to do so in the least disruptive manner. Students are expected to display a positive attitude toward learning by conducting themselves with civility, respect for others (e.g., sharing thoughts and actively listening to the thoughts and comments of peers and the instructor), and general good, courteous behavior, including not engaging in cell phone (which should be silenced), personal proving class time. The UT System and The University of Texas at Dallas have rules and regulations for the orderly and efficient conduct of their business. It is the responsibility of each student and actively indicated and established due process. Procedures are defin			course grading
Extra Credit Extra credit is not available because it tends to interfere with a student's focusing upon completing assignments for the course, and permits students to choose not to or to poorly complete selected assignments designed as part of the course. Work will not be accepted late without a legitimate excuse accompanied by proper formal documentation (e.g., a doctor's excuse). Each student is expected to attend every lecture, and will be excused from doing so only for legitimate reasons that are accompanied by the provision of proper formal documentation (e.g., a doctor's excuse). Each student has the responsibility to access all information presented during a missed class session from other sources; the faculty instructor is not responsible for ensuring that students have missed materials. Furthermore, each student is expected to actively participate, which means to do more than just show up and occupy a seat in the classroom. Rather, students are expected to arrive to class ON TIME and to be properly and fully prepared to participate in class discussions and/or exercises. Students arriving to a class session after it has begun are expected to one of the conducting themselves with civility, respect for others (e.g., sharing thoughts and actively listentiate to the conducting themselves with civility, respect for others (e.g., sharing thoughts and actively listentiate to ward learning by conducting themselves with civility, respect for others (e.g., sharing thoughts and actively listentiate of the conduct and activities. General information on student conduct of the instructor), and general good, courteous behavior, including not engaging in cell phone (which should be silenced), personal movies/TV and personal newspaper (or other reading materials) usage, and not participating in social discussion groups during class time. The UT System and The University of Texas at Dallas have rules and regulations for the orderly and efficient conduct of their business. It is the responsibility of each student and	3.6.1	An awar	n aannat ha mada
Extra Credit Extra credit is not available because it tends to interfere with a student's focusing upon completing assignments for the course, and permits students to choose not to or to poorly complete selected assignments designed as part of the course. Work will not be accepted late without a legitimate excuse accompanied by proper formal documentation (e.g., a doctor's excuse). Each student is expected to attend every lecture, and will be excused from doing so only for legitimate reasons that are accompanied by the provision of proper formal documentation (e.g., a doctor's excuse). Each student has the responsibility to access all information presented during a missed class session from other sources; the faculty instructor is not responsible for ensuring that students have missed materials. Furthermore, each student is expected to actively participate, which means to do more than just show up and occupy a seat in the classroom. Rather, students are expected to arrive to class ON TIME and to be properly and fully prepared to participate in class discussions and/or exercises. Students arriving to a class session after it has begun are expected to enter quietly and take a seat in the least disruptive manner; student leaving a class session early are expected to do so in the least disruptive manner. Students are expected to display a positive attitude toward learning by conducting themselves with civility, respect for others (e.g., sharing thoughts and actively listening to the thoughts and comments of peers and the instructor), and general good, courteous behavior, including not engaging in cell phone (which should be silenced), personal movies/TV and personal newspaper (or other reading materials) usage, and not participating in social discussion groups during class time. The UT System and The University of Texas at Dallas have rules and regulations for the orderly and efficient conduct of their business. It is the responsibility of each student and acab student and activities. General information on st	_			-	_		excuse a	ecom	pamed by prop	er
Late Work	Exams
Late Work Work will not be accepted late without a legitimate excuse accompanied by proper formal documentation (e.g., a doctor's excuse). Each student is expected to attend every lecture, and will be excused from doing so only for legitimate reasons that are accompanied by the provision of proper formal documentation (e.g., a doctor's excuse). Each student has the responsibility to access all information presented during a missed class session from other sources; the faculty instructor is not responsible for ensuring that students have missed materials. Furthermore, each student is expected to actively participate, which means to do more than just show up and occupy a seat in the classroom. Rather, students are expected to arrive to class ON TIME and to be properly and fully prepared to participate in class discussions and/or exercises. Students arriving to a class session after it has begun are expected to enter quietly and take a seat in the least disruptive manner. Students leaving a class session early are expected to do so in the least disruptive manner. Students are expected to display a positive attitude toward learning by conducting themselves with civility, respect for others (e.g., sharing thoughts and actively listening to the thoughts and comments of peers and the instructor), and general good, courteous behavior, including not engaging in cell phone (which should be silenced), personal movies/TV and personal newspaper (or other reading materials) usage, and not participating in social discussion groups during class time. The UT System and The University of Texas at Dallas have rules and regulations for the orderly and efficient conduct of their business. It is the responsibility of each student and each student organization to be knowledgeable about the rules and regulations which govern student conduct and activities. General information on student conduct and discipline is contained in the UTD publication, A to Z Guide, which is provided to all registered students each academic year. The Un	F . G
Late Work Work will not be accepted late without a legitimate excuse accompanied by proper formal documentation (e.g., a doctor's excuse). Each student is expected to attend every lecture, and will be excused from doing so only for legitimate reasons that are accompanied by the provision of proper formal documentation (e.g., a doctor's excuse). Each student has the responsibility to access all information presented during a missed class session from other sources; the faculty instructor is not responsible for ensuring that students have missed materials. Furthermore, each student is expected to actively participate, which means to do more than just show up and occupy a seat in the classroom. Rather, students are expected to arrive to class ON TIME and to be properly and fully prepared to participate in class discussions and/or exercises. Students arriving to a class session after it has begun are expected to enter quietly and take a seat in the least disruptive manner. Students are expected to display a positive attitude toward learning by conducting themselves with civility, respect for others (e.g., sharing thoughts and actively listening to the thoughts and comments of peers and the instructor), and general good, courteous behavior, including not engaging in cell phone (which should be silenced), personal movies/TV and personal newspaper (or other reading materials) usage, and not participating in social discussion groups during class time. The UT System and The University of Texas at Dallas have rules and regulations for the orderly and efficient conduct of their business. It is the responsibility of each student and each student organization to be knowledgeable about the rules and regulations which govern student conduct and activities. General information on student conduct and discipline within the procedures of recognized and established due process. Procedures are defined and described in the Rules and Regulations, Board of Regents, The University of Texas System, Part I, Chapter VI, Section 3, and	Extra Credit
Each student is expected to attend every lecture, and will be excused from doing so only for legitimate reasons that are accompanied by the provision of proper formal documentation (e.g., a doctor's excuse). Each student has the responsibility to access all information presented during a missed class session from other sources; the faculty instructor is not responsible for ensuring that students have missed materials. Furthermore, each student is expected to actively participate, which means to do more than just show up and occupy a seat in the classroom. Rather, students are expected to arrive to class ON TIME and to be properly and fully prepared to participate in class discussions and/or exercises. Students arriving to a class session after it has begun are expected to enter quietly and take a seat in the least disruptive manner; student leaving a class session early are expected to do so in the least disruptive manner; student leaving a class session early are expected to do so in the least disruptive manner; student leaving a class session early are expected to do so in the least disruptive manner. Students are expected to display a positive attitude toward learning by conducting themselves with civility, respect for others (e.g., sharing thoughts and actively listening to the thoughts and comments of peers and the instructor), and general good, courteous behavior, including not engaging in cell phone (which should be silenced), personal movies/TV and personal newspaper (or other reading materials) usage, and not participating in social discussion groups during class time. The UT System and The University of Texas at Dallas have rules and regulations for the orderly and efficient conduct of their business. It is the responsibility of each student and each student organization to be knowledgeable about the rules and regulations which govern student conduct and activities. General information on student conduct and discipline is contained in the UTD publication, A to Z Guide, which is provided to all reg
Each student is expected to attend every lecture, and will be excused from doing so only for legitimate reasons that are accompanied by the provision of proper formal documentation (e.g., a doctor's excuse). Each student has the responsibility to access all information presented during a missed class session from other sources; the faculty instructor is not responsible for ensuring that students have missed materials. Furthermore, each student is expected to actively participate, which means to do more than just show up and occupy a seat in the classroom. Rather, students are expected to arrive to class ON TIME and to be properly and fully prepared to participate in class discussions and/or exercises. Students arriving to a class session after it has begun are expected to enter quietly and take a seat in the least disruptive manner. Students are expected to display a positive attitude toward learning by conducting themselves with civility, respect for others (e.g., sharing thoughts and actively listening to the thoughts and comments of peers and the instructor), and general good, courteous behavior, including not engaging in cell phone (which should be silenced), personal movies/TV and personal newspaper (or other reading materials) usage, and not participating in social discussion groups during class time. The UT System and The University of Texas at Dallas have rules and regulations for the orderly and efficient conduct of their business. It is the responsibility of each student and each student organization to be knowledgeable about the rules and regulations which govern student conduct and activities. General information on student conduct and discipline within the procedures of recognized and established due process. Procedures are defined and described in the Rules and Regulations, Board of Regents, The University of Texas System, Part 1 , Chapter VI, Section 3, and in Title V, Rules on Student Services and Activities of the university's Handbook of Operating Procedures . Copies of these rules and r	Late Work							e accoi	mpanied by pro	op-timate reasons that are accompanied by the provision of proper formal documentation (e.g., a doctor's excuse). Each student has the responsibility to access all information presented during a missed class session from other sources; the faculty instructor is not responsible for ensuring that students have missed materials. Furthermore, each student is expected to actively participate, which means to do more than just show up and occupy a seat in the classroom. Rather, students are expected to arrive to class ON TIME and to be properly and fully prepared to participate in class discussions and/or exercises. Students arriving to a class session after it has begun are expected to enter quietly and take a seat in the least disruptive manner; student leaving a class session early are expected to do so in the least disruptive manner. Students are expected to display a positive attitude toward learning by conducting themselves with civility, respect for others (e.g., sharing thoughts and actively listening to the thoughts and comments of peers and the instructor), and general good, courteous behavior, including not engaging in cell phone (which should be silenced), personal movies/TV and personal newspaper (or other reading materials) usage, and not participating in social discussion groups during class time. The UT System and The University of Texas at Dallas have rules and regulations for the orderly and efficient conduct of their business. It is the responsibility of each student and each student organization to be knowledgeable about the rules and regulations which govern student conduct and activities. General information on student conduct and discipline is contained in the UTD publication, A to Z Guide, which is provided to all registered students each academic year. The University of Texas at Dallas administers student discipline within the procedures of recognized and established due process. Procedures are defined and described in the Rules and Regulations, Board of Regents, The University of Texas System tor's excuse). Each student has the responsibility to access all information presented during a missed class session from other sources; the faculty instructor is not responsible for ensuring that students have missed materials. Furthermore, each student is expected to actively participate, which means to do more than just show up and occupy a seat in the classroom. Rather, students are expected to arrive to class ON TIME and to be properly and fully prepared to participate in class discussions and/or exercises. Students arriving to a class session after it has begun are expected to enter quietly and take a seat in the least disruptive manner. Students are expected to display a positive attitude toward learning by conducting themselves with civility, respect for others (e.g., sharing thoughts and actively listening to the thoughts and comments of peers and the instructor), and general good, courteous behavior, including not engaging in cell phone (which should be silenced), personal movies/TV and personal newspaper (or other reading materials) usage, and not participating in social discussion groups during class time. The UT System and The University of Texas at Dallas have rules and regulations for the orderly and efficient conduct of their business. It is the responsibility of each student and each student organization to be knowledgeable about the rules and regulations which govern student conduct and activities. General information on student conduct and discipline is contained in the UTD publication, A to Z Guide, which is provided to all registered students each academic year. The University of Texas at Dallas administers student discipline within the procedures of recognized and established due process. Procedures are defined and described in the Rules and Regulations, Board of Regents, The University of Texas System, Part 1, Chapter VI, Section 3, and in Title V, Rules on Student Services and Activities of the university's Handbook of Operating Process. Procedures are available to assist students in Attendance Missed class session from other sources; the faculty instructor is not responsible for ensuring that students taudents have missed materials. Furthermore, each student is expected to actively participate, which means to do more than just show up and occupy a seat in the classroom. Rather, students are expected to arrive to class ON TIME and to be properly and fully prepared to participate in class discussions and/or exercises. Students arriving to a class session after it has begun are expected to do so in the least disruptive manner; student leaving a class session early are expected to do so in the least disruptive manner. Students are expected to display a positive attitude toward learning by conducting themselves with civility, respect for others (e.g., sharing thoughts and actively listening to the thoughts and comments of peers and the instructor), and general good, courteous behavior, including not engaging in cell phone (which should be silenced), personal movies/TV and personal newspaper (or other reading materials) usage, and not participating in social discussion groups during class time. The UT System and The University of Texas at Dallas have rules and regulations for the orderly and efficient conduct of their business. It is the responsibility of each student and each student organization to be knowledgeable about the rules and regulations which govern student conduct and activities. General information on student conduct and discipline is contained in the UTD publication, A to Z Guide, which is provided to all registered students each academic year. The University of Texas at Dallas administers student discipline within the procedures of recognized and established due process. Procedures are defined and described in the Rules and Regulations, Board of Regents, The University of Texas System, Part 1, Chapter VI, Section 3, and in Title V, Rules on Stude students have missed materials. Furthermore, each student is expected to actively participate, which means to do more than just show up and occupy a seat in the classroom. Rather, students are expected to arrive to class ON TIME and to be properly and fully prepared to participate in class discussions and/or exercises. Students arriving to a class session after it has begun are expected to enter quietly and take a seat in the least disruptive manner; student leaving a class session early are expected to do so in the least disruptive manner. Students are expected to display a positive attitude toward learning by conducting themselves with civility, respect for others (e.g., sharing thoughts and actively listening to the thoughts and comments of peers and the instructor), and general good, courteous behavior, including not engaging in cell phone (which should be silenced), personal movies/TV and personal newspaper (or other reading materials) usage, and not participating in social discussion groups during class time. The UT System and The University of Texas at Dallas have rules and regulations for the orderly and efficient conduct of their business. It is the responsibility of each student and each student organization to be knowledgeable about the rules and regulations which govern student conduct and activities. General information on student conduct and discipline is contained in the UTD publication, A to Z Guide, which is provided to all registered students each academic year. The University of Texas at Dallas administers student discipline within the procedures of recognized and established due process. Procedures are defined and described in the Rules and Regulations, Board of Regents, The University of Texas System, Part 1, Chapter VI, Section 3, and in Title V, Rules on Student Services and Activities of the university's Handbook of Operating Procedures. Copies of these rules and regulations are available to students in the Office of the Dean of Students, where staff members are available to assist st which means to do more than just show up and occupy a seat in the classroom. Rather, students are expected to arrive to class ON TIME and to be properly and fully prepared to participate in class discussions and/or exercises. Students arriving to a class session after it has begun are expected to enter quietly and take a seat in the least disruptive manner; student leaving a class session early are expected to do so in the least disruptive manner. Students are expected to display a positive attitude toward learning by conducting themselves with civility, respect for others (e.g., sharing thoughts and actively listening to the thoughts and comments of peers and the instructor), and general good, courteous behavior, including not engaging in cell phone (which should be silenced), personal movies/TV and personal newspaper (or other reading materials) usage, and not participating in social discussion groups during class time. The UT System and The University of Texas at Dallas have rules and regulations for the orderly and efficient conduct of their business. It is the responsibility of each student and each student organization to be knowledgeable about the rules and regulations which govern student conduct and activities. General information on student conduct and discipline is contained in the UTD publication, A to Z Guide, which is provided to all registered students each academic year. The University of Texas at Dallas administers student discipline within the procedures of recognized and established due process. Procedures are defined and described in the Rules and Regulations, Board of Regents, The University of Texas System, Part 1, Chapter VI, Section 3, and in Tile V, Rules on Student Services and Activities of the university's Handbook of Operating Procedures. Copies of these rules and regulations are available to students in the Office of the Dean of Students, where staff members are available to assist students in interpreting the rules and regulations (SU 1.602, 972/883-6391). A student at the uni										nat
are expected to arrive to class ON TIME and to be properly and fully prepared to participate in class discussions and/or exercises. Students arriving to a class session after it has begun are expected to enter quietly and take a seat in the least disruptive manner; student leaving a class session early are expected to do so in the least disruptive manner. Students are expected to display a positive attitude toward learning by conducting themselves with civility, respect for others (e.g., sharing thoughts and actively listening to the thoughts and comments of peers and the instructor), and general good, courteous behavior, including not engaging in cell phone (which should be silenced), personal movies/TV and personal newspaper (or other reading materials) usage, and not participating in social discussion groups during class time. The UT System and The University of Texas at Dallas have rules and regulations for the orderly and efficient conduct of their business. It is the responsibility of each student and each student organization to be knowledgeable about the rules and regulations which govern student conduct and activities. General information on student conduct and discipline is contained in the UTD publication, A to Z Guide , which is provided to all registered students each academic year. The University of Texas at Dallas administers student discipline within the procedures of recognized and established due process. Procedures are defined and described in the Rules and Regulations , Board of Regents , The University of Texas System , Part 1 , Chapter VI , Section 3 , and in Title V, Rules on Student Services and Activities of the university's Handbook of Operating Procedures . Copies of these rules and regulations are available to students in the Office of the Dean of Students, where staff members are available to assist students in interpreting the rules and regulations (SU 1.602, 972/883-6391). A student at the university neither loses the rights nor escapes the responsibilities of citize	Attendance
Classroom Citizenship Classroom Citizenship Classroom Citizenship Classroom Citizenship Classroom Citizenship Citizenship Classroom Citizenship Citize
Students arriving to a class session after it has begun are expected to enter quietly and take a seat in the least disruptive manner; student leaving a class session early are expected to do so in the least disruptive manner. Students are expected to display a positive attitude toward learning by conducting themselves with civility, respect for others (e.g., sharing thoughts and actively listening to the thoughts and comments of peers and the instructor), and general good, courteous behavior, including not engaging in cell phone (which should be silenced), personal movies/TV and personal newspaper (or other reading materials) usage, and not participating in social discussion groups during class time. The UT System and The University of Texas at Dallas have rules and regulations for the orderly and efficient conduct of their business. It is the responsibility of each student and each student organization to be knowledgeable about the rules and regulations which govern student conduct and activities. General information on student conduct and discipline is contained in the UTD publication, A to Z Guide, which is provided to all registered students each academic year. The University of Texas at Dallas administers student discipline within the procedures of recognized and established due process. Procedures are defined and described in the Rules and Regulations, Board of Regents, The University of Texas System, Part 1, Chapter VI, Section 3, and in Title V, Rules on Student Services and Activities of the university's Handbook of Operating Procedures. Copies of these rules and regulations are available to students in the Office of the Dean of Students, where staff members are available to assist students in the Office of the Dean of Students, where staff members are available to assist students in interpreting the rules and regulations (SU 1.602, 972/883-6391). A student at the university neither loses the rights nor escapes the responsibilities of citizenship. He or she is expected to obey federal, state, and lo Classroom Citizenship Citizenship Classroom Citizenship Citizenship Classroom Citizenship Conducting the thoughts and comments of peers and the instructor), and general good, courteous beha- vior, including not engaging in cell phone (which should be silenced), personal movies/TV and personal newspaper (or other reading materials) usage, and not participating in social discussion groups during class time. The UT System and The University of Texas at Dallas have rules and regulations for the orderly and efficient conduct of their business. It is the responsibility of each student and each student organization to be knowledgeable about the rules and regulations which govern student conduct and activities. General information on student conduct and discipline is contained in the UTD publication, A to Z Guide, which is provided to all registered students each academic year. The University of Texas at Dallas administers student discipline within the procedures of recognized and established due process. Procedures are defined and described in the Rules and Regu- lations, Board of Regents, The University of Texas System, Part I, Chapter VI, Section 3, and in Title V, Rules on Student Services and Activities of the university's Handbook of Operating Pro- cedures. Copies of these rules and regulations are available to students in the Office of the Dean of Students, where									:	4
Classroom Citizenship Citizens
Classroom Citizenship Citizens
Citizenship ing to the thoughts and comments of peers and the instructor), and general good, courteous behavior, including not engaging in cell phone (which should be silenced), personal movies/TV and personal newspaper (or other reading materials) usage, and not participating in social discussion groups during class time. The UT System and The University of Texas at Dallas have rules and regulations for the orderly and efficient conduct of their business. It is the responsibility of each student and each student organization to be knowledgeable about the rules and regulations which govern student conduct and activities. General information on student conduct and discipline is contained in the UTD publication, A to Z Guide, which is provided to all registered students each academic year. The University of Texas at Dallas administers student discipline within the procedures of recognized and established due process. Procedures are defined and described in the Rules and Regulations, Board of Regents, The University of Texas System, Part 1, Chapter VI, Section 3, and in Title V, Rules on Student Services and Activities of the university's Handbook of Operating Procedures. Copies of these rules and regulations are available to students in the Office of the Dean of Students, where staff members are available to assist students in interpreting the rules and regulations (SU 1.602, 972/883-6391). A student at the university neither loses the rights nor escapes the responsibilities of citizenship. He or she is expected to obey federal, state, and local laws as well as the Regents' Rules, university regulations, and administrative rules. Students are subject to discipline for violating the standards of conduct whether such conduct takes place on or off campus, or whether civil or criminal penalties are also imposed for such conduct. The faculty expects from its students a high level of responsibility and academic honesty. Because	Classroom vior, including not engaging in cell phone (which should be silenced), personal movies/TV and personal newspaper (or other reading materials) usage, and not participating in social discussion groups during class time. The UT System and The University of Texas at Dallas have rules and regulations for the orderly and efficient conduct of their business. It is the responsibility of each student and each student organization to be knowledgeable about the rules and regulations which govern student conduct and activities. General information on student conduct and discipline is contained in the UTD publication, A to Z Guide, which is provided to all registered students each academic year. The University of Texas at Dallas administers student discipline within the procedures of recognized and established due process. Procedures are defined and described in the Rules and Regulations, Board of Regents, The University of Texas System, Part 1, Chapter VI, Section 3, and in Title V, Rules on Student Services and Activities of the university's Handbook of Operating Procedures. Copies of these rules and regulations are available to students in the Office of the Dean of Students, where staff members are available to assist students in interpreting the rules and regulations (SU 1.602, 972/883-6391). A student at the university neither loses the rights nor escapes the responsibilities of citizenship. He or she is expected to obey federal, state, and local laws as well as the Regents' Rules, university regulations, and administrative rules. Students are subject to discipline for violating the standards of conduct whether such conduct takes place on or off campus, or whether civil or criminal penalties are also imposed for such conduct. Academic personal newspaper (or other reading materials) usage, and not participating in social discussion groups during class time. The UT System and The University of Texas at Dallas have rules and regulations for the orderly and efficient conduct of their business. It is the responsibility of each student and each student organization to be knowledgeable about the rules and regulations which govern student conduct and activities. General information on student conduct and discipline is contained in the UTD publication, A to Z Guide, which is provided to all registered students each academic year. The University of Texas at Dallas administers student discipline within the procedures of recognized and established due process. Procedures are defined and described in the Rules and Regulations, Board of Regents, The University of Texas System, Part 1, Chapter VI, Section 3, and in Title V, Rules on Student Services and Activities of the university's Handbook of Operating Procedures. Copies of these rules and regulations are available to students in the Office of the Dean of Students, where staff members are available to assist students in interpreting the rules and regulations (SU 1.602, 972/883-6391). A student at the university neither loses the rights nor escapes the responsibilities of citizenship. He or she is expected to obey federal, state, and local laws as well as the Regents' Rules, university regulations, and administrative rules. Students are subject to discipline for violating the standards of conduct whether such conduct takes place on or off campus, or whether civil or criminal penalties are also imposed for such conduct. Academic	Citizensinp
The UT System and The University of Texas at Dallas have rules and regulations for the orderly and efficient conduct of their business. It is the responsibility of each student and each student organization to be knowledgeable about the rules and regulations which govern student conduct and activities. General information on student conduct and discipline is contained in the UTD publication, A to Z Guide, which is provided to all registered students each academic year. The University of Texas at Dallas administers student discipline within the procedures of recognized and established due process. Procedures are defined and described in the Rules and Regulations, Board of Regents, The University of Texas System, Part 1, Chapter VI, Section 3, and in Title V, Rules on Student Services and Activities of the university's Handbook of Operating Procedures. Copies of these rules and regulations are available to students in the Office of the Dean of Students, where staff members are available to assist students in interpreting the rules and regulations (SU 1.602, 972/883-6391). A student at the university neither loses the rights nor escapes the responsibilities of citizenship. He or she is expected to obey federal, state, and local laws as well as the Regents' Rules, university regulations, and administrative rules. Students are subject to discipline for violating the standards of conduct whether such conduct takes place on or off campus, or whether civil or criminal penalties are also imposed for such conduct. Academic
The UT System and The University of Texas at Dallas have rules and regulations for the orderly and efficient conduct of their business. It is the responsibility of each student and each student organization to be knowledgeable about the rules and regulations which govern student conduct and activities. General information on student conduct and discipline is contained in the UTD publication, A to Z Guide, which is provided to all registered students each academic year. The University of Texas at Dallas administers student discipline within the procedures of recognized and established due process. Procedures are defined and described in the Rules and Regulations, Board of Regents, The University of Texas System, Part 1, Chapter VI, Section 3, and in Title V, Rules on Student Services and Activities of the university's Handbook of Operating Procedures. Copies of these rules and regulations are available to students in the Office of the Dean of Students, where staff members are available to assist students in interpreting the rules and regulations (SU 1.602, 972/883-6391). A student at the university neither loses the rights nor escapes the responsibilities of citizenship. He or she is expected to obey federal, state, and local laws as well as the Regents' Rules, university regulations, and administrative rules. Students are subject to discipline for violating the standards of conduct whether such conduct takes place on or off campus, or whether civil or criminal penalties are also imposed for such conduct. The faculty expects from its students a high level of responsibility and academic honesty. Because organization to be knowledgeable about the rules and regulations which govern student conduct and activities. General information on student conduct and discipline is contained in the UTD publication, A to Z Guide , which is provided to all registered students each academic year. The University of Texas at Dallas administers student discipline within the procedures of recognized and established due process. Procedures are defined and described in the Rules and Regulations, Board of Regents, The University of Texas System, Part 1, Chapter VI, Section 3 , and in Title V, Rules on Student Services and Activities of the university's Handbook of Operating Procedures . Copies of these rules and regulations are available to students in the Office of the Dean of Students, where staff members are available to assist students in interpreting the rules and regulations (SU 1.602, 972/883-6391). A student at the university neither loses the rights nor escapes the responsibilities of citizenship. He or she is expected to obey federal, state, and local laws as well as the Regents' Rules, university regulations, and administrative rules. Students are subject to discipline for violating the standards of conduct whether such conduct takes place on or off campus, or whether civil or criminal penalties are also imposed for such conduct. Academic The faculty expects from its students a high level of responsibility and academic honesty. Because				ersity of	Texas at Dall	as have	e rules and	regulat	ions for the order	ly and activities. General information on student conduct and discipline is contained in the UTD publication, A to Z Guide , which is provided to all registered students each academic year. The University of Texas at Dallas administers student discipline within the procedures of recognized and established due process. Procedures are defined and described in the Rules and Regulations, Board of Regents, The University of Texas System, Part 1, Chapter VI, Section 3 , and in Title V, Rules on Student Services and Activities of the university's Handbook of Operating Procedures . Copies of these rules and regulations are available to students in the Office of the Dean of Students, where staff members are available to assist students in interpreting the rules and regulations (SU 1.602, 972/883-6391). A student at the university neither loses the rights nor escapes the responsibilities of citizenship. He or she is expected to obey federal, state, and local laws as well as the Regents' Rules, university regulations, and administrative rules. Students are subject to discipline for violating the standards of conduct whether such conduct takes place on or off campus, or whether civil or criminal penalties are also imposed for such conduct. Academic The faculty expects from its students a high level of responsibility and academic honesty. Because publication, A to Z Guide , which is provided to all registered students each academic year. The University of Texas at Dallas administers student discipline within the procedures of recognized and established due process. Procedures are defined and described in the Rules and Regulations , Board of Regents , The University of Texas System , Part 1 , Chapter VI , Section 3 , and in Title V, Rules on Student Services and Activities of the university's Handbook of Operating Procedures . Copies of these rules and regulations are available to students in the Office of the Dean of Students, where staff members are available to assist students in interpreting the rules and regulations (SU 1.602, 972/883-6391). A student at the university neither loses the rights nor escapes the responsibilities of citizenship. He or she is expected to obey federal, state, and local laws as well as the Regents' Rules, university regulations, and administrative rules. Students are subject to discipline for violating the standards of conduct whether such conduct takes place on or off campus, or whether civil or criminal penalties are also imposed for such conduct. Academic The faculty expects from its students a high level of responsibility and academic honesty. Because		organization to be knowledgeable about the rules and regulations which govern student conduct
The University of Texas at Dallas administers student discipline within the procedures of recognized and established due process. Procedures are defined and described in the Rules and Regulations, Board of Regents, The University of Texas System, Part 1, Chapter VI, Section 3 , and in Title V, Rules on Student Services and Activities of the university's Handbook of Operating Procedures . Copies of these rules and regulations are available to students in the Office of the Dean of Students, where staff members are available to assist students in interpreting the rules and regulations (SU 1.602, 972/883-6391). A student at the university neither loses the rights nor escapes the responsibilities of citizenship. He or she is expected to obey federal, state, and local laws as well as the Regents' Rules, university regulations, and administrative rules. Students are subject to discipline for violating the standards of conduct whether such conduct takes place on or off campus, or whether civil or criminal penalties are also imposed for such conduct. Academic The faculty expects from its students a high level of responsibility and academic honesty. Because		and activities. General information on student conduct and discipline is contained in the UTD
Student Conduct and Discipline Title V, Rules on Student Services and Activities of the university's Handbook of Operating Procedures. Copies of these rules and regulations are available to students in the Office of the Dean of Students, where staff members are available to assist students in interpreting the rules and regulations (SU 1.602, 972/883-6391). A student at the university neither loses the rights nor escapes the responsibilities of citizenship. He or she is expected to obey federal, state, and local laws as well as the Regents' Rules, university regulations, and administrative rules. Students are subject to discipline for violating the standards of conduct whether such conduct takes place on or off campus, or whether civil or criminal penalties are also imposed for such conduct. Academic The faculty expects from its students a high level of responsibility and academic honesty. Because		publication, A to Z Guide, which is provided to all registered students each academic year.
Conduct and Discipline Title V, Rules on Student Services and Activities of the university's Handbook of Operating Procedures. Copies of these rules and regulations are available to students in the Office of the Dean of Students, where staff members are available to assist students in interpreting the rules and regulations (SU 1.602, 972/883-6391). A student at the university neither loses the rights nor escapes the responsibilities of citizenship. He or she is expected to obey federal, state, and local laws as well as the Regents' Rules, university regulations, and administrative rules. Students are subject to discipline for violating the standards of conduct whether such conduct takes place on or off campus, or whether civil or criminal penalties are also imposed for such conduct. Academic The faculty expects from its students a high level of responsibility and academic honesty. Because Conduct and Discipline Title V, Rules on Student Services and Activities of the university's Handbook of Operating Procedures. Copies of these rules and regulations are available to students in the Office of the Dean of Students, where staff members are available to assist students in interpreting the rules and regulations (SU 1.602, 972/883-6391). A student at the university neither loses the rights nor escapes the responsibilities of citizenship. He or she is expected to obey federal, state, and local laws as well as the Regents' Rules, university regulations, and administrative rules. Students are subject to discipline for violating the standards of conduct whether such conduct takes place on or off campus, or whether civil or criminal penalties are also imposed for such conduct. Academic Title V, Rules on Student Services and Activities of the university's Handbook of Operating Procedures. Students in the Office of the Dean of Students in the Office of the Dean of Students in the Office of the Dean of Students and regulations are available to students in the Office of the Dean of Students in the Office of the Dean of Students and regulations are available to students in the Office of the Dean of Students in the Office o	a Discipline cedures. Copies of these rules and regulations are available to students in the Office of the Dean of Students, where staff members are available to assist students in interpreting the rules and regulations (SU 1.602, 972/883-6391). A student at the university neither loses the rights nor escapes the responsibilities of citizenship. He or she is expected to obey federal, state, and local laws as well as the Regents' Rules, university regulations, and administrative rules. Students are subject to discipline for violating the standards of conduct whether such conduct takes place on or off campus, or whether civil or criminal penalties are also imposed for such conduct. Academic The faculty expects from its students a high level of responsibility and academic honesty. Because of Students, where staff members are available to assist students in interpreting the rules and regulations (SU 1.602, 972/883-6391). A student at the university neither loses the rights nor escapes the responsibilities of citizenship. He or she is expected to obey federal, state, and local laws as well as the Regents' Rules, university regulations, and administrative rules. Students are subject to discipline for violating the standards of conduct whether such conduct takes place on or off campus, or whether civil or criminal penalties are also imposed for such conduct. Academic The faculty expects from its students a high level of responsibility and academic honesty. Because lations (SU 1.602, 972/883-6391). A student at the university neither loses the rights nor escapes the responsibilities of citizenship. He or she is expected to obey federal, state, and local laws as well as the Regents' Rules, university regulations, and administrative rules. Students are subject to discipline for violating the standards of conduct whether such conduct takes place on or off campus, or whether civil or criminal penalties are also imposed for such conduct. Academic The faculty expects from its students a high level of responsibility and academic honesty. Because	Discipline
A student at the university neither loses the rights nor escapes the responsibilities of citizenship. He or she is expected to obey federal, state, and local laws as well as the Regents' Rules, university regulations, and administrative rules. Students are subject to discipline for violating the standards of conduct whether such conduct takes place on or off campus, or whether civil or criminal penalties are also imposed for such conduct. Academic The faculty expects from its students a high level of responsibility and academic honesty. Because ship. He or she is expected to obey federal, state, and local laws as well as the Regents' Rules, university regulations, and administrative rules. Students are subject to discipline for violating the standards of conduct whether such conduct takes place on or off campus, or whether civil or criminal penalties are also imposed for such conduct. Academic The faculty expects from its students a high level of responsibility and academic honesty. Because university regulations, and administrative rules. Students are subject to discipline for violating the standards of conduct whether such conduct takes place on or off campus, or whether civil or criminal penalties are also imposed for such conduct. Academic The faculty expects from its students a high level of responsibility and academic honesty. Because standards of conduct whether such conduct takes place on or off campus, or whether civil or criminal penalties are also imposed for such conduct. Academic The faculty expects from its students a high level of responsibility and academic honesty. Because inal penalties are also imposed for such conduct. Academic The faculty expects from its students a high level of responsibility and academic honesty. Because Academic The faculty expects from its students a high level of responsibility and academic honesty. Because Academic	The facul	The faculty expects from its students a high level of responsibility and academic honesty. Because Integrity

	dent for that degree, it is imperative that a student demonstrate a high standard of individual honor in his or her scholastic work.
	Scholastic dishonesty includes, but is not limited to, statements, acts or omissions related to applications for enrollment or the award of a degree, and/or the submission as one's own work or material that is not one's own. As a general rule, scholastic dishonesty involves one of the following acts: cheating, plagiarism, collusion and/or falsifying academic records. Students suspected of academic dishonesty are subject to disciplinary proceedings.
	Plagiarism, especially from the web, from portions of papers for other classes, and from any other source is unacceptable and will be dealt with under the university's policy on plagiarism (see general catalog for details). This course will use the resources of turnitin.com, which searches the web for possible plagiarism and is over 90% effective.
	The University of Texas at Dallas recognizes the value and efficiency of communication between faculty/staff and students through electronic mail. At the same time, email raises some issues concerning security and the identity of each individual in an email exchange. The university encourages all official student email correspondence be sent only to a student's U.T. Dallas email address and that faculty and staff consider email from students official only if it originates from a E-mail Use	UTD student account. This allows the university to maintain a high degree of confidence in the identity of all individual corresponding and the security of the transmitted information. UTD furnishes each student with a free email account that is to be used in all communication with university personnel. The Department of Information Resources at U.T. Dallas provides a method for students to have their U.T. Dallas mail forwarded to other accounts.
	The administration of this institution has set deadlines for withdrawal of any college-level Withdrawal	courses. These dates and times are published in that semester's course catalog. Administration procedures must be followed. It is the student's responsibility to handle withdrawal requirements from Class	from any class. In other words, I cannot drop or withdraw any student. You must do the proper paperwork to ensure that you will not receive a final grade of "F" in a course if you choose not to attend the class once you are enrolled.
	Procedures for student grievances are found in Title V, Rules on Student Services and Activities, of the university's Handbook of Operating Procedures .
	In attempting to resolve any student grievance regarding grades, evaluations, or other fulfill-ments of academic responsibility, it is the obligation of the student first to make a serious effort to resolve the matter with the instructor, supervisor, administrator, or committee with whom the grievance originates (hereafter called "the respondent"). Individual faculty members retain prima-
g. 1	ry responsibility for assigning grades and evaluations. If the matter cannot be resolved at that lev-
Student	el, the grievance must be submitted in writing to the respondent with a copy of the respondent's Grievance	School Dean. If the matter is not resolved by the written response provided by the respondent, the Procedures	student may submit a written appeal to the School Dean. If the grievance is not resolved by the School Dean's decision, the student may make a written appeal to the Dean of Graduate or Undergraduate Education, and the deal will appoint and convene an Academic Appeals Panel. The decision of the Academic Appeals Panel is final. The results of the academic appeals process will be distributed to all involved parties.
	Copies of these rules and regulations are available to students in the Office of the Dean of Students, where staff members may assist students in interpreting the rules and regulations.
	As per university policy, incomplete grades will be granted only for work unavoidably missed at the semester's end and only if 70% of the course work has been completed. An incomplete grade Incomplete	must be resolved within eight (8) weeks from the first day of the subsequent long semester. If the Grades	required work to complete the course and to remove the incomplete grade is not submitted by the specified deadline, the incomplete grade is changed automatically to a grade of \underline{F} .
	The goal of Disability Services is to provide students with disabilities educational opportunities equal to those of their non-disabled peers. Disability Services is located in room 1.610 in the Student Union. Office hours are Monday and Thursday, 8:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m.; Tuesday and Wednesday, 8:30 a.m. to 7:30 p.m.; and Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.
D: 1.:11:4
Disability	The Contact information for the Office of Disability Services is:
Services	The University of Texas at Dallas, SU 22 PO Box 830688
	Richardson, Texas 75083-0688
	(972) 883-2098 (voice or TTY)
	Essentially, the law requires that colleges and universities make those reasonable adjustments necessary to eliminate discrimination on the basis of disability. For example, it may be necessary to remove classroom prohibitions against tape recorders or animals (in the case of dog guides) for students who are blind. Occasionally an assignment requirement may be substituted (for example, a research paper versus an oral presentation for a student who is hearing impaired). Classes enrolled students with mobility impairments may have to be rescheduled in accessible facilities. The college or university may need to provide special services such as registration, note-taking, or mobility assistance.

	It is the student's responsibility to notify his or her professors of the need for such an accommodation. Disability Services provides students with letters to present to faculty members to verify that the student has a disability and needs accommodations. Individuals requiring special accommodation should contact the professor after class or during office hours.
Religious Holy Days	The University of Texas at Dallas will excuse a student from class or other required activities for the travel to and observance of a religious holy day for a religion whose places of worship are exempt from property tax under Section 11.20, Tax Code, Texas Code Annotated. The student is encouraged to notify the instructor or activity sponsor as soon as possible regarding the absence, preferably in advance of the assignment. The student, so excused, will be allowed to take the exam or complete the assignment within a reasonable time after the absence: a period equal to the length of the absence, up to a maximum of one week. A student who notifies the instructor and completes any missed exam or assignment may not be penalized for the absence. A student who fails to complete the exam or assignment within the prescribed period may receive a failing grade for that exam or assignment. If a student or an instructor disagrees about the nature of the absence [i.e., for the purpose of observing a religious holy day] or if there is similar disagreement about whether the student has been given a reasonable time to complete any missed assignments or examinations, either the student or the instructor may request a ruling from the chief executive officer of the institution, or his or her designee. The chief executive officer or designee must take into account the legislative intent of TEC 51.911(b), and the student and instructor will abide by the decision of the chief executive officer or designee.
Off-Campus	Off-campus, out-of-state, and foreign instruction and activities are subject to state law and Univer-
Instruction and Course Activities	sity policies and procedures regarding travel and risk-related activities. Information regarding these rules and regulations may be found at http://www.utdallas.edu/BusinessAffairs/Travel_Risk_Activities.htm . Additional information is available from the office of the school dean.

NOTE: These descriptions/timelines are subject to change at the discretion of the Professor.