Candidate Profile:

We are looking for someone to fill a project-based role with moderate supervision. The candidate must possess the ability to process instructions and work independently. This role will require strong communication skills as you will be expected to provide regular updates to various stakeholders within the program and actuarial teams. The ideal candidate will also be able to extrapolate and share insights about their work, and any additional discoveries, along the way.

The ideal candidate will be a college student enrolled in an actuarial track, or related field and interested in pursuing an actuarial career. You must be comfortable managing and manipulating large volumes of data through MS SQL and MS Excel. Familiarity with R is a plus.

Schedules will be set as projects are defined, and flexibility will be helpful. As such, we are looking for someone that is local to the Dallas-Fort Worth area.
