

Dr. Sanda M. Harabagiu is a Professor of Computer Science and the Erik Jonsson School Research Initiation Chair at the University of Texas at Dallas. She is also the Director of the Human Language Technology Research Institute at University of Texas at Dallas. She received the Ph.D. degree in Computer Engineering from the University of Southern California in 1997 and the Doctorate in Electrical Engineering and Computer Science from the University of Rome, Italy in 1994. She was previously an assistant professor of Computer Science at the University of Texas, Austin and at Southern Methodist University. She is a past recipient of the National Science Foundation Faculty Early CAREER Development Award for studying coreference resolution. Her research interests include Natural Language Processing, Information Retrieval, Knowledge Processing, Artificial Intelligence and more recently Medical Informatics. She has been interested for a long time in Textual Question-Answering, reference resolution and textual cohesion and coherence. In 2006 she co-edited a book entitled Advances in Open Domain Question Answering.