Figure 10.17 All unfolded conformations are equally probable. We assume that there are N_C unfolded conformations. The energy of each conformation is shown in this diagram, along with the structure. Because all of the energies are the same, the probability of finding any of these conformations is the same.